WASHINGTON CITY

New Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Washington, July 26.—The President has nominated Green B. Raum of Illinois Commissioner of Internal Revenue, vice Pratt resigned.

Washington, July 26.—The position of commissioner of internal revenue having been [illegible] formally declined by Congressman MacDougall was offered to Gen. Green B. Raum of Illinois and accepted by him this afternoon, whereupon his nomination was sent to the Senate. Gen. Raum is a lawyer by profession, about 50 years of age. He served throughout the war in command as a brigadier of the army of the Tennessee, and represented Cairo, Illinois, district in the Fortieth Congress. His appointment is spoken of as a highly creditable one by his congressional associates of both parties.

Caucus of Republican Senators.

The Republican Senators had a long caucus this morning on the general subject of the appropriation bills. No formal action was taken but from the tenor of opinions interchanged by a large number of those in attendance it is most probable that the river and harbor appropriation bill will be dropped or rejected by the Senate and that an agreement will be reached concerning the bills the present week.

Investigation of Judge Humphreys.

A select committee of the House has been in session all day investigating numerous charges of R. D. Mussey, member of the Washington bar against Justice Humphreys of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Senator Boutwell on Mississippi Affairs.

Washington, July 26.—Senator Boutwell has ready his report upon the investigation of political affairs in Mississippi. The report states that the people of Mississippi, as indicated by facts gathered from persons of all classes of society and political classes, are lapsing into a condition of society alarming to contemplate and that it is beyond human foresight to ever tell where it will end. Mr. Boutwell in conversation says the Hamburg affair is but an atom compared with the atrocities committed in Mississippi and which never came under the eye of public scrutiny. He says in the present condition of things there is no chance for carrying Mississippi though the State is largely Republican.

700 Clerks to be Discharged.

Washington, July 26.—The number of clerks to be discharged if the agreement of the conference committee on the legislative bill is embodied into law will be nearly 700 or about 500 more than Mr. Morrill when at the head of the appropriation committee of the Senate insisted could be dispensed with at this time without seriously crippling the public service.

Holman Shows his Hand on the Silver Bill.

Chicago, July 26.—The Tribune's Washington special says Holman of Indiana to-day indicated what is his intention to move to strike out the resumption clause. The worst feature of this silver job has come to be understood here to-day, namely that the bill was concocted in New York by a lot of speculators in gold and that agents representing that combination have been here at work in pressing the bill. The attorneys of the Bonanza and other mines are the active outside workers here. Indications are there will be an obstinate fight over the bill and the proposed Holman amendment to-morrow. It is thought it will be easy to [illegible] over the morning hour by two calls of the yeas and nays still its opponents are by no means certain that either the bill or amendment can be defeated in the House. As to the success of the silver bill in the Senate if it passes the House it is very doubtful for while the silver inflationists claim they have a majority of three there are a few Senators who can talk it to death unless adjournment is long delayed.

More Executive Clemency Threatened.

The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says Storrs has been talking with the President to-day concerning the pardon of Hesing and other Chicago convicts and feels much encouraged. The President will be guided by the advice of Attorney General Taft who has expressed himself much displeased with the manner in which the trials were conducted in Chicago. Taft does not favor the postponement of the Executive clemency until after the election but says when it is discovered wrong has been done it should be corrected, policy or no policy. The party which cannot afford to do justice without fear of injury to itself must be very weak.

Washington Monument.

The House committee on appropriations have agreed to recommend for passage the bill for the construction of the Washington monument materially different from the senate bill. It appropriates $200,000 in four annual installments of $50,000 each, thus enabling the completion in that time for dedication on the centennial anniversary of Cornwallis' surrender. Foster of Ohio will report a bill to-morrow and make a speech in favor of it.

The Belknap Impeachment.

Senator Carpenter only finished the preliminaries of his argument in the Belknap case to-day. To-morrow he will finish in about two hours according to his intimation and the Senate will insist upon Manager Lord completing his argument at once and on Thursday will begin senatorial deliberations on the verdict which if open will occupy a week but if in secret, as there seems a growing disposition to make them, they will make short work of it. If the Senators all vote, the probabilities are that Belknap will be found guilty but he may escape the degradation of this verdict by the refusal to vote at all of some who have declared by votes against jurisdiction.

Carpenter's Speech.

Specials indicate that Carpenter's speech to-day was one of the finest efforts of his life and was listened to by a large and sympathetic audience.

Minority Report of Committee on Naval Affairs.

Washington, July 26.—The report of the minority of the committee on naval affairs signed by Republicans Harris, Danford and Hayes was presented to-day. The minority severely criticise the majority report alleging it is unfair in its statement fallacious in its conclusions is evidently prompted by partisan spirit ignores entirely testimony favorable to the navy department and perverts other portions in such a way as to inflict gross injustice upon the Secretary and other officers. The minority report shows that the navy is in a more efficient condition than it has been at any time since 1869 notwithstanding the limited means at the disposal of the secretary. The policy of rebuilding vessels that would have soon become [illegible] is defended by the minority as entirely prudent and judicious and instead of censure for this as the majority propose the Secretary deserves the thanks of the entire country. With regard to contracts and purchases for which the majority severely censure the Secretary implying corruption on his part the testimony of all the witnesses is entirely concurrent proving that in no instance has the Secretary ever exercised influence in any purchase or contract either directly or indirectly by intimation or otherwise. The charge by the majority that the Secretary had used government materials and labor of employes for his own private benefit is pronounced by the minority as frivolous and unsupported by testimony. In respect to the speculations of G. Cattell and his loving percentages on contractors the minority say these operations were carried on without the knowledge of the Secretary. As soon as he was advised of such practices he interposed vigorously to check them. Whatever abuses or frauds exist in connection with contracts for purchases of the navy department are a result of defects inherent in a system long established and for which the law making power, and not the department, is responsible and for which the majority suggest no adequate remedy. Also they have been engaged in the investigation for six months of political influence exercised in the navy yard appointments. That evil is one which originated under and was fostered by all previous Democratic administrations. The only effort to check it has been made under the present Republican administration such political appointment is are attributable chiefly to importunities of members of Congress and not to the action of the Secretary and chiefs of bureaus. The minority enter fully into the examination of the foreign navy account in London showing the action of the Secretary of War entirely legal and its results beneficial to the government as not a dollar has been or can be lost. The proposition of the majority to refer the whole subject to another committee of the House for final disposal and to dictate either a disposition to evade the responsibility imposed upon the naval committee by the House or conscious [illegible] inability to dispose of the subject committed to them in a satisfactory manner. The report of the minority concludes with a review [illegible]

The Silver Question.

Washington, July 26.—[illegible]

of coinage under the legal tender of the silver bill [illegible] may possibly not be one a law before adjournment. Senator Sherman is of the opinion however that the Senate would insist on limiting its legal tender to twenty or at most fifty dollars. The [illegible] has [illegible] approved the [illegible] for the issue of [illegible] coin it is to be a law. Its full text is as follows:

Be it [illegible] That the Secretary of the Treasury under such limits and regulations as will best secure a just and fair distribution of the same through the country may issue the silver coin at any time in the Treasury to an amount not exceeding $10,000,000 in exchange for an equal amount of legal tender notes and notes so received in exchange shall be kept as a special fund separate and apart from all other money in the Treasury and be issued only upon the retirement and destruction of a like sum of fractional currency received at the Treasury in payment of dues to the United States and said fractional currency when so substituted shall be destroyed and held as part of the sinking fund as provided in the act approved April 17, 1876.

Sec. 2. That the trade dollar shall not hereafter be a legal tender and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to limit from time to time the coinage thereof to such an amount as he may deem sufficient to meet the export demand for the same.

Sec. 3. That in addition to the amount of subsidiary silver coin authorized by law to be issued in redemption of the fractional currency it shall be lawful to manufacture at the several mints and issue through the Treasury and its several offices such coin to an amount that including the amount of subsidiary silver coin and of fractional currency outstanding shall in the aggregate not exceed at any time $50,000,000.

Sec. 4. That the silver bullion required for the purposes of this act shall be purchased from time to time at the market rate by the Secretary of the Treasury with any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated but no purchase of bullion shall be made under this resolution when the market rate for the same shall be such as will not admit of the coinage and issue as herein provided without loss to the Treasury and any gain or seigniorage arising from this coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the Treasury as provided under existing laws relative to subsidiary coinage provided that the amount of money at any one time invested in such silver bullion exclusive of such resulting coin shall not exceed two hundred thousand dollars.

The Tribune's Washington special says the silver bill was again thrown over in the House to-day. Its opponents believe it can be beaten by filibustering in the Senate. There is a growing belief that if it passes the Senate will either defeat it or at least limit the legal tender [illegible] to the amount of $[illegible]

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Washington, July 26.—The impeachment trial was resumed immediately after the Senate was called to order and Carpenter continued his argument for defense. He denied that Belknap [illegible] received money with the intent to have his official action swerved and without that intent there was no crime. Carpenter then spoke of impeachable crimes and argued that Belknap had not committed any crime and even if he had taken bribes the courts here in the district were adequate to deal with him. He commented at length on the question of the jurisdiction and cited many legal authorities upon the subject to show that the Senate had no jurisdiction. The Senate had no right to sit in its final decision to consider that question again and reserve its decision already given. Those Senators who voted guilty on the final question would by that vote assert jurisdiction. Every Senator who believed there was no jurisdiction must vote not guilty. If any Senators regarded the question of jurisdiction settled then it had been settled in favor of defendant because less than two thirds of the Senate voted in favor thereof. Having discharged his duty to his client he now left him in the hands of the court confident that in a case of this importance every point would be considered. Leaving it he would make it his last and earnest appeal to those Senators who believe there was no jurisdiction to this case that they would do all in their power to save the defense from a conviction and not let it be said as Lord Brougham said in the case of O'Connell vs the Queen [illegible] so we would go forth without authority and rebuffed without respect."

The Senate took a recess of fifteen minutes and upon reassembling Manager Lord commenced the closing argument upon the part of the prosecution. He replied to the argument of Carpenter in regard to jurisdiction and claimed in effect that the articles of impeachment were sufficient in law and bound every Senator. He commented at length on the law of bribery and argued that it made no difference whether the money was accepted to influence official action or not. The accused is guilty under the law of this Senate in the eyes of the nation. Yes of the world! Yes of history! If the Senate dare take the responsibility of saving Belknap received this money but did not have his official action influenced thereby let it do so and see what history would say. Belknap knew where the money came from to him and for what purpose. There was the Tribune article, the letter of Grierson and order of McDowell of which Belknap knew yet after these things he received [illegible] payments. Gifts they were called by learned counsel. But these gifts were all kept out of sight. They came under the head of addition division and silence. Why did Gen. Belknap resign the office of Secretary of War if he was innocent. Why did he go down like the oak before the whirlwind. Did not he know that if he was an innocent man he could still be Secretary of War and no man would attempt to put him out on account of his wife's dealing in post traderships. His resignation was a confession of his guilt.

Lord concluded his argument and the court adjourned until to-morrow and will then proceed to vote on the final issue.

Legislative business was resumed.

Oglesby from the committee on Indian affairs reported favorably the House bill to provide for the sale of certain lands in Kansas placed on calendar.

Atkinson called up the river and harbor appropriation bill so as to have it come up as unfinished business. Senate adjourned.

House.

Morrison, chairman of the committee of ways and means reported back Senate bill authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to deposit certain Indian trust funds in the U. S. treasury in lieu of investment, passed.

The House then considered the Virginia contested election case of Platt and Goode and was addressed by Townsend of New York, in support of the majority report.

After speeches by Tucker, Goode and Platt the case went over without action and the House adjourned.

THE SIOUX CAMPAIGN.

Important Advices from Gen. Crook.

Cheyenne, July 26.—Advices from Gen. Crook's command in camp on the south fork of Tongue river July 23 via Fort Fetterman, July 26th are of importance. The main body of the Sioux are believed to have taken to the Big Horn mountains where game is more abundant and the grass fresher. The Indian efforts to burn the grass of the valley makes it almost imperative on Crook to follow them up at once. His force now musters about twelve hundred regular soldiers and citizen volunteers besides the two hundred Snake allies and he feels that he can at least hold his own on any ground the enemy may select. It is expected that the wagons will be parked on main Tongue river near the mountains, and with the pack train loaded with from 15 to 20 days' rations a vigorous but careful advance will immediately follow. It is not deemed advisable for Crook's and Terry's forces to join previous to a move by one or the other of the commands. It is thought that the Indians would make a stand against one of the columns and that by engaging them and having the other column in reserve to either fight or follow up with something decisive may be effected during the summer campaign. The enemy is believed to be [illegible] the headwaters of Ash Creek and the Little Big Horn not far from the Montana and Wyoming line thirty to forty miles from Crook's present camp.

Gen. Merritt left Fetterman this morning with eight companies of fifth cavalry. Two more on the way to Fetterman will take one hundred and fifty recruits and follow in a few days.

Fort Fetterman, July 26.—General Merritt reached here with eight companies of the 5th cavalry this afternoon and intends leaving for the front to-morrow morning taking with him a small body of recruits for the 4th and 9th infantry. He will make short marches for the first few days to allow two additional companies of the 5th cavalry to overtake him and will then press rapidly forward. It is thought that General Crook will advance upon the Sioux within 48 hours after this reinforcement reaches him which it will in about nine days. A battle may be expected almost immediately after the advance as the Indians are massed in large numbers in the neighborhood [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] over [illegible] dent [illegible] Merritt [illegible] [illegible] 40 which will [illegible]

Extradition.

London, July 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: We are still of opinion that the scandal of the Winslow extradition might have been avoided, or the responsibility attaching to England considerably lessened had a proper attitude been assumed at an earlier stage of proceedings. We should immediately renew negotiations which are likely to last some time. We ought to endeavor to establish provisional arrangements which will prevent rascals from benefiting by falling out with honest men.

Stanley Heard From.

London, July 26.—The Telegraph publishes dispatches to-day from Stanley from whom five letters have just been received. One letter bears date of July 29, 1875, written at Mahyaga Island, Victoria Nyanza, and describes the voyage from King Metesa's territory at the northern end of Victoria Nyanza. In this voyage Stanley and party narrowly escaped massacre by the savages and treacherous natives of Iambeth. The natives were beaten off after a severe fight and the party arrived safely at [illegible] after encountering heavy storms. Turkish War News.

London, July 26.—The Belgrade correspondent of the News asserts that the Servians are not losing ground and their delay is no sign of weakness. The Servians are gaining recruits faster than the Turks.

The Standard's Vienna dispatch says the Hungarian authorities have discharged the Krupp guns [illegible] which were en route to Roumania. The Telegraph's Vienna special says it is asserted that Austria has [illegible] satisfaction because of the infringement of neutrality by a Turkish man of war at Klek.

The Times' Berlin special says it is expected either before or shortly after resumption of the offensive by the Turks which is imminent an attempt will be made to reopen mediation and discussion of the powers. The Daily News' Paraskin dispatch says 400 wounded arrived there Monday night. The Daily News' Belgrade special says the Servian war has virtually collapsed. Henceforth the aggressive spirit is quite abandoned. The deepest despondency reigns in Belgrade, and I have reason to believe that the offer of mediation on the part of Great Britain would be favorably entertained by Prince Milan's advisers though I have fears they are victims to Russian intrigue buoyed up by the chimera of Russia's active intervention. Prince Milan's personal aid-de-camp has quitted Paraskin with Russian officers who had been staying there for some days. No Servian corps are now outside the Eastern frontier. Saitschar is being strongly reinforced and provisioned as a defensive fortress. Turks have reopened communication between Bjeljina and Bat[illegible] despite the efforts of General [illegible] The largest regiment of Servian regulars which was in garrison at Semendria has started for Alexinatz. The same paper's special dispatch from Belgrade says the official bulletin claims that Dutnich has captured and fortified the camp at Rakovitz commanding the only road between Novi Bazaar and Bosnia.

The News' Vienna dispatch says: A great battle is expected on Friday. The Turks are now having 8,000 men concentrated at Widdin.

The News' Rome special says: Italy demands explanations from the Khedive in consequence of extortions practiced by the Emir of Zeila on the [illegible] central African expedition.

War Threatened between Roumania and Turkey.

A Bucharest special says 25,000 Roumanians are concentrated on the Danubian frontier. The Turks are guarding the opposite bank. Shots were exchanged Tuesday before Ostrow. It is reported that the Turkish forces entered Roumanian territory Monday and pillaged some houses. A conflict is apprehended.

Free Seaports.

[illegible] July 26.—The Senate by 114 to 102, have adopted the bill for establishing free seaports. The object of the bill is to establish a system of bonded war houses and not as heretofore stated for allowing delivery and consumption of goods without payment of duties.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Some of the logging camps in the Province are introducing road steamers.

T. I. S. Hughes, Esq., has been appointed government agent at Lillooet, vice Mr. Chas. Pope, removed.

It is said that the steamship Dakota will shortly be drawn from the line between Victoria and San Francisco, and that either the Costa Rica or South Carolina will take her place.

According to the Colonist, twelve new buildings including three additions are under way or about to be commenced in Victoria, all but one residences, some of them quite large and expensive structures.

The steamer Grappler was reported last Friday to be slightly damaged in her present position on the reef off Dar[illegible] Island, only a portion of her stern being carried away and neither her copper nor bilge being injured. The great danger however to the vessel is the possibility of a southeast wind springing up which would in all probability result in her total destruction. Some 80 tons of her freight have been transferred and hopes are entertained that with proper management she will float off before a change of wind takes place.

The Nanaimo Free Press has been dipping into the coal statistics and this is the result: In 1874 81,[illegible] tons and in 1875 97,0[illegible] tons were shipped from Nanaimo. For the first six months of the year 1876 [illegible] were shipped, an increase of 27,215 tons over the previous six months. Burrard Inlet exported to foreign countries during the half year ending June 30, 1876, 12,000,000 feet of lumber and [illegible] spars, valued at $138,480.55. The shipments from Nanaimo for the six months ending June 30th were as follows: Vancouver [illegible] company tons foreign 31,[illegible] [illegible] 2,[illegible] total 33,[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] tons [illegible] [illegible] tons 2,102 [illegible]

The Toronto Globe of the 6th inst says: [illegible] formally [illegible] In a week from to-day [illegible] contractive to be employed on the Pacific railway will be running at Thunder Bay. [illegible] miles of [illegible] on the part [illegible] way of the speedy final construction of the whole 400 miles of road between Thunder Bay and Lac des Mille Lacs whence to Rat Portage from which point to Red river the railway will come into service. [illegible] There will be temporary communication by water pending the construction of the line between Rat Portage and Lac des Mille Lacs. The result of the arrangement will be that in a very short time access through British territory to the Northwest will be easy and not, as hitherto, so rough as to be virtually prohibitory to all but the very hardiest settlers, besides being all but useless for heavy freight.

California Democratic Convention.

San Francisco, July 26.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order by Judge Ryland. The attendance was small most of the outside counties being represented by proxies. A recess was taken until noon. When the convention reassembled a wrangle was had in regard to selecting nominees from the districts and it was finally decided to adjourn for half an hour in order for all the districts to select names. The Fourth district delegates met and named Frank Gruhnelle as elector, and Q. B. Castor as alternate. They also chose a campaign committee of eleven. The first district nominated Stuart M. Taylor and John Molton as alternate and Dr. Shorb was recommended as delegate at large. The second district nominated J. H. Budd of Stockton and Bagge of Alameda, as alternate. The third district nominated Barclay Henley as elector, and Marion Biggs alternate. On motion of Senator Tuttle, Luttrell was nominated for Congress. There will be a grand ratification meeting to-night.

On the reassembling the nominations of the several district conventions were confirmed. The following were chosen delegates at large: Dr. J. J. Shorb, Judge John S. Hagar with Jos. Naphtaly and Cameron H. King of San Francisco as alternates. A delegate from San Luis Obispo moved the nomination of a candidate for State Comptroller to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Gen. Mansfield but the motion was not seconded and the subject was dropped. The report of the State Central Committee recommending the organization of district clubs in all the counties by charter from the State Central Committee to report regularly to the county committees the progress of the campaign was adopted. A motion was then made to collect an assessment of one dollar per head to pay expenses, whereupon a scramble was made for the door, scarcely a baker's dozen being left to finish the [illegible] of the business, and adjourn.

Convention of Wheat Growers.

About 120 [illegible] from the wheat growing counties met with Golden Gate Grange last night to take into consideration the transportation problem. Some 24 wheat growing counties were represented. The proceedings were secret, but it is known that a strong effort will be made to break the grain ring by holding back wheat for export.

Run Over by a Railway Train and Killed.

Merced, July 26.—Upon the arrival of last night's express train it was immediately reported that about a mile back the train had run over what was thought to be a man. Quite a number of persons went to the place indicated and found the lifeless and fearfully mangled remains of a man. The body was brought to town and has been recognized as that of Lucius Paul, a teamster and native of Vermont. Near the body was found a bottle containing whisky, and upon inquiry it was ascertained that he left town for home late in the evening in an intoxicated state. It is supposed he lay down upon the track and went to sleep.

THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION

WHAT HAVE YOU TO OFFER FOR THE RELIEF OF THE FARMER OF '76?

SALEM, July 24, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Your correspondent "76" in Monday's issue in a very crafty and specious interpleading for present submission to the tyranny of the monopolists who hold control of the transportation routes in the valley, pulls the wool over a little too far and exposes the other end of the cat in the meal tub. If a little insignificant line of boats are put on the river by the assurance of aid given by farmers who need not pledge over one bushel in ten of their production to secure it, 76 contends that it will result in bringing freight rates down to one dollar per ton. This, then, is the best corrective that can be annually administered to the monopolists and the farmers should not be slow to trump that card by making up a pool of 250,000 bushels of grain pledged to be carried at the rates proposed by Capt. Cochran and they are thus assured of freight rates at $1 per ton for the balance of their crop. The effort of '76 is plainly written in the "big Injun me" style, calculated to scare the farmers from giving aid to a man who does not care to battle the O. S. N. Co. without the farmers behind him, and Capt. Cochran is willing to face this terrible giant, who seems to have given 76 the jim jams, if one bushel in ten is pledged to him on the basis he has proposed, and besides there are other men connected with Capt. Cochran in this enterprise, who have tried conclusions with the same terrible ogre, and never got badly scared or hurt, either. One thing is plain, whatever balsam 76 has to offer for the relief of the farmer, will not cannot apply for his present crop nor the next. How can the State buy anything in her present condition?—bankrupted by Groverism, a constitutional inhibition staring legislative action in the face which cannot be removed in less time than two years, and the grasp of the monopoly all the while tightening its fetters and forging new chains for the enslavement of the people, and still 76 wants the farmer to lie supinely until relief will come from legislative action in the far off future praying to the gods rather than to exert a little strength—put forth one-tenth of an effort in his own behalf and the chain is riven.

Another thing is certain unless Capt. Cochran's or some other similar plan is backed by the farmer and speedily he will have the pleasure of paying an average of five dollars per ton on his down freight and eight dollars per ton on his up freight for the next year and nothing to soothe the long stretch of tyrannous exaction, except curses at his own folly and repentance in sackcloth and ashes after it is too late. For cool reading in these dog days I send an extract from the Willamette Farmer whose editor interviewed the head of the combination.

Furthermore in conversation with Capt. Ainsworth, president of the W. T. & L. Co., we had his positive assurance that they had bought those locks, owned them and proposed to make money out of them and in answer to question whether the people have any legal right to use the locks at 50 cents per ton for freight as the law prescribes he replied that they had no answer to make to questions, no information for the newspapers, but that the courts are open for the people to prove their rights if they have any.

And now with these facts before the people, let me ask "76" if he has anything to offer for the relief of the farmer of "76." It is more vital to the farmer of the present period than it is to the shellback of two or three years hence who may become callous to extortion and imposition in three or four years inurement to such treatment, but who now feels every blow of the lash and winces under it. What have you got to offer for the relief of the farmer of '76?

CENTENNIAL.

"SIXTY-SEVEN" ON THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

I trust your correspondent "76" is too fast in assuming that the law donating $200,000 towards the construction of the Willamette Falls locks provides no safeguards for the people. If it does not, it is what it was characterized in the party discussions of that day—a "lock and dam swindle." It has been understood that the act provided for the passage forever of all boats at a reasonable charge fixed by the law. Is it certain that such is not the fact? It seems hardly probable that it is not. The Legislature in bestowing a gift of $200,000 of the people's money, must have intended to have accompanied it with conditions which should secure fair use of the works to all who wished to use them. If the language of their bill failed to cover this intendment, it could not have escaped detection by the Governor, who is a lawyer, and whose approval and signature were necessary to its enactment. It seems to me that the conclusion that the people are without remedy under the existing law is hasty, though I have not examined it, and am not a lawyer, to do so. I should like to hear the facts and reasons on this head before casting about for relief under another. If it shall appear that our public servants have been derelict, and the people of the State have nothing for their $200,000 then I agree with "76" that the wisest plan is to look our misfortune in the face, and make the best of it we can. If they are the buying of the works constructed with our money then that must be considered. But it can hardly be done at present. The Legislature when it meets it is said, will be confronted at the threshold with a deficiency on account of the ordinary expenses of near $400,000 which must be provided for. This, with the current expenses of next year will require a levy of from thirteen to fifteen mills, as much as can well be borne in one year. However, if more shall be found necessary and for wise purposes, the people may not complain.

This is how it looks across the water. The London Times believes that Mr. Tilden ought to gain from his reform services but thinks the platform adopted at St. Louis does not give him much backing. On finance it thinks he should have a more assured footing, but complains that here again he suffers from the association of his name with that of Hendricks. Hayes seems to the London Times not conspicuously a strong man but greatly strengthened by his hard money attitude. It concludes: "We can hardly doubt that the Presidential contest in November will turn almost exclusively, upon the currency question and if this be so it is plain that the advantage must rest with the Republicans. The advocates of inflation have found no place in the Republican party but on the Democratic ticket though they have a vigorous antagonist in Mr. Tilden they have a partisan or at least, an apologist—unable to change the policy of the party but capable of mischievously overshadowing it—in Mr. Hendricks."

The Keene (N. H.) Sentinel prints a letter from a local correspondent in which the writer says: "Among the men in my employ are three Democrats who were in Gen. Hayes' regiment twenty-three [illegible] during the war. One of them says: 'A braver or better man was not in the army. He had an abundance of grit. If he had a fault it was that in battle he was too eager. On a [illegible] hot day in July march I could always tell Col. Hayes' horse as it was always loaded with the guns and knapsacks of the boys who were giving out, the Colonel himself walking by his side no matter how great the heat. Yes sir, he was a kind man, but we had to do our whole duty as soldiers.' The three men will vote for Hayes and Wheeler."

British Columbia has supplied the San Francisco market with 52,616 tons of coal from January 1st to July 12, 1876.

LETTER FROM A LIBERAL REPUBLICAN.

LELAND, Oregon, July [illegible] 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Republican newspapers, including the Oregonian are striving to convince themselves and their readers that the Liberal Republican voters of the country will come to the scratch and support the present Republican Presidential ticket. Being one of the number who earnestly supported that glorious old apostle of freedom, Horace Greeley, for President, in 1872, and feeling an honest pride in having done so I beg leave to modestly state what I know to be the position occupied by Liberal Republican voters in the present political contest.

Hayes and Wheeler are personally and politically acceptable to those who led the great Liberal movement of 1872. This fact is sufficiently demonstrated by the present attitude of those oracles of political [illegible] the New York Tribune, Springfield [illegible] and other independent journals [illegible] four years ago, boldly denounced the policy of [illegible] Grant, and [illegible] [illegible] for the time being to ignore party obligations and prejudice and support Horace Greeley as the only means by which the country could be redeemed from the [illegible] of [illegible] miscreants who held high carnival in almost every department of government. The Liberal movement of 1872 was fraught [illegible] to bring about the very [illegible] now advocated by the Oregonian and entire Republican party. Were it policy at this time, there is not a respectable newspaper from Maine to [illegible] that could not copy [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] of Whitelaw Reid and Sam. Bowles on Grant and his [illegible] written four years ago. This is said in no [illegible] spirit, but to attest the truth of recent political history, as proven by current events. Liberal Republicans were not false to the cardinal principles of the true Republican party. They simply refused to be led away from those glorious principles by renegades [illegible] organization, buried to the [illegible] [illegible] lows of a gigantic [illegible] It was not proposed by those who conceived the idea of the Liberal Convention by which Greeley was nominated, to destroy the Republican party. It was to re[illegible] and purify it that such patriots as Charles Sumner and others less eminent, but with as pure motives, sought to place Horace Greeley at the head of Government. The condition of the party was only less disgraceful at that time than three years later in the [illegible] that its subserviency to the will of profligates and rogues was known to the people. President Grant was less odious in the number, not the [illegible] of his violations of the faith reposed in him by those who used him the [illegible] of Washington and Lincoln. What was the condition of the Republican party in this State when Grant was renominated, and in most of the other States its leaders had rendered it an object more or less [illegible] An arrogant, ill bred adventurer, [illegible] and chance had made a railroad [illegible] was the acknowledged [illegible] of the [illegible] He dictated its policy, determined its [illegible] of candidates and dominated over all who dared to question his assumed authority. Under his control and written up by one whose name had long been a synonym with [illegible] thing [illegible] to true [illegible] paper flourished in your city which, for a time, was the [illegible] In every county in the State [illegible] suborned and [illegible] of the Repub[illegible] [illegible] commit any [illegible] [illegible] ter. No one is more [illegible] the truth of [illegible] he who now so ably [illegible] of the Oregonian, and [illegible] more to rid the [illegible] of the presence of that [illegible] and at least a portion of his [illegible] and jay-hawkers. There are others [illegible] for the [illegible] A few, [illegible] all [illegible] basking in the [illegible] of their [illegible] until his fall, turn like [illegible] that [illegible] are and kick the [illegible] who [illegible] were wont to [illegible] like so [illegible] are striving to win favor under the [illegible] new deal by braying loud and long at the corners and upon the [illegible] tops for the success of Hayes and Wheeler. If any [illegible] could serve to drive Liberal and Independent votes from the Republican ticket it would be its hollow, hypocritical adv[illegible] by all or any of the late [illegible] of [illegible] or pensioners upon Presidential favor. Keep these in the rear, out of sight and hearing, and Liberal Republicans will be [illegible] where, as of old, working and voting for the only ticket that represents the rights of [illegible] upon the broad basis advocated by Lincoln, Seward and Greely, that immortal trinity [illegible] from whose brain sprang the genius of true Republicanism.

Hayes, in his letter of acceptance, [illegible] the reforms sought by Liberal Republicans; hence they accept him as their candidate, and will support him in [illegible] to the Bourbon [illegible] They [illegible] organization in the grave with its ill [illegible] founder. But they [illegible] that [illegible] and renegades be kept in the rear, else like the ghost of Old John Brown,

"It will [illegible] you much [illegible] than ever
When you've [illegible] its coffin down."

A LIBERAL.

The Dayton (Ohio) [illegible] says: "As an [illegible] of fact [illegible] are very few of the old [illegible] about Dayton who are not bitterly di[illegible] and disappointed with the St. Louis [illegible] and nom[illegible] Many [illegible] will not vote at all, some say they will vote for Peter Cooper, and a few even go so far as to say that they will vote for Hayes. Quite a large number, however, acquiesce, and of these some few are so enth[illegible] as to want to read those who are [illegible] out of the party."

When the band went around to serenade Governor Hendricks, the other night, it played rather a solemn sort of march until it arrived at the Hendricks house, when it struck up a very lively air. A neighbor across the street, who was aroused by the music, called to his colored boy who was at the gate and asked him what it was. "Dat," said the boy, "dat is de tune dey plays in de circus when de man rides two horses at once."

THURSDAY MORNING JULY 27 1876

MR JERRY BLACK'S LAST INVENTION

It is generally known that Mr Jeremiah S Black is a person of peculiar and sometimes original views As a lawyer, he occupies a high position, and a very high one as an advocate Occasionally however some of the eccentricities of his nature crop out in the course of his practice as lawyer and advocate It was he if we are not mistaken, first discovered that while it must be admitted that no State had a right under the Constitution to secede from the Union, still the government had no power to prevent any State from doing so if it chose The most recent if not the most original of the peculiar ideas which he has given to the world is that upon which he bases his defense of Belknap before the Senate sitting as a court of impeachment The receipt of money by the family of the secretary of war in consideration of the secretary's appointing the person paying it to a post tradership, he says must not be regarded as a bribe, but merely as the acceptance of a present It is common in these latter days for persons who have extensive patronage and valuable places at their disposal to accept gifts as tokens of regard, and to show their appreciation of the donors by appointing them to places where they will be able to reimburse themselves. It must be admitted that such things have occurred, but it is like nobody else so much as Mr Black to lift such transactions out of the mire of vulgar avarice and official degeneracy where ordinarily they would be placed by honest people, and set them up as admirable exhibitions of the reciprocal emotions of friendship between generous minds This is a happy thought of Mr Black's. But we can not but regard some of the examples he cites as a little far-fetched and scarcely in point He alludes to the appointment of Henry Clay to the position of Secretary of State by John Quincy Adams, for instance. Clay never gave Adams a present in his life, so far as can be learned from the history of those times But Mr Black says Mr Clay helped elect Mr Adams President Mr Clay was simply one of the most eminent men of the times, whose views on political questions were in accord with those of Mr. Adams, and naturally he was taken into the Cabinet. That is all of it He also alludes to the valuable donations made to Daniel Webster, but he does not stop to show that Mr. Webster gave the donors places of profit in return His reference to the gifts received by President Grant and the returns he is said to have made for them, fails for obvious reasons to justify his logic in Belknap's case, for he is trying to demonstrate, not that such things have been done of late, but that they are consistent with official integrity and duty

MOLLIE MAGUIRES.

The telegraph on Monday announced the conviction at Pottsville, Schuylkill county, Pennsylvania, of James Carroll, [illegible] McGeehan and James Boyle, for the murder of Policeman Yost at Tamaqua, and in due time they will be hanged James Duffy is also under indictment for the same offense. On the 12th inst Thomas Munley was also convicted for the murder of Thomas Sawyer, a mining boss at Raven Run, in Schuylkill county. On the 9th inst., at Mauch Chunk, Carbon county, Pennsylvania Alexander Campbell was convicted of planning the assassination of John P Jones, another mining boss, but the two men who committed the murder, Doyle and Kelly, have not yet been tried These men all belong to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, or Mollie Maguires

Mollie Maguireism had its origin in Ireland before the rebellion of 1798, when the great conspiracy feud, by the Ribbon Men against the land-owners, had its origin. The name was given them because, in the perpetration of outrages, they had often disguised themselves in women's clothes

Mr Franklin B Gowen, President of the Reading Railroad Co, was district attorney for Schuylkill county, twelve years ago, and then became satisfied of the existence of this order of secret oath-bound assassins Ever since he has been President of that great coal carrying company, he has been engaged in ferreting them out, but it was less than two years since that he was able to get any tangible evidence In 1874 he applied to Allen Pinkerton, who sent him a detective named James McParlen, a Catholic Irishman, who joined the Mollies, and being very bright, soon became entrusted with all their secrets, and was elected body-master of one of their lodges He supplied Pinkerton with a weekly account of all their doings for more than a year past, and was able to prevent many murders that were planned, but not all, without exposing himself to assassination He was corroborated in his testimony by James Kerrigan, another body master who turned State's evidence, and it is believed a dozen of these wretches will be convicted before all the trials end, to atone for several hundreds of murders perpetrated in the coal regions The Ancient Order of Hibernians have been in existence for 20 years in Schuylkill, Carbon and other counties of Pennsylvania, during which period there has been one assassination a week on an average If a mining boss or police man offended one of the Mollies either by discharging him or arresting him for drunkenness word was sent to a lodge in another and distant portion of the county and they selected by lot the men to do the murder who only got their expenses paid and laborers wages If arrested they all joined together to prove an alibi but they were scarcely ever arrested for they had got hold of the county offices and most of the avenues to justice Once a year the subordinate lodges in Pennsylvania received their signs grips and pass words Their secret name was "goods," or in the grand lodge in New York city which received them from the head body master in Ireland The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Philadelphia counseled and assisted Mr Gowen in his efforts to break up this organization, and many priests have declared against it, but all the efforts of the Catholic clergy neither prevented the murders or discovered one of the perpetrators

It seems incredible that in the midst of a civilized people, and right under the droppings of the sanctuary where Christianity was preached and where many of these Mollies attended to join in worship, there should exist for nearly a quarter of a century an organization numbering thousands of men who are as savage as a Sioux and stealthy as an Indian Thug The report of the trials of these murderous wretches reads like a bloody romance

On Monday Gen Lamar of Mississippi tried to get the House of Representatives to agree to fix a specific time for the consideration of the bill extending the time for the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad It required a two thirds vote but the House refused which would have given the bill precedence over other important matters Gen Lamar stated that the committee on railroads was unanimous in recommending its passage It has already passed the Senate and will doubtless pass the House when it is reached in regular order

NEW PUBLICATIONS

A POPULAR HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES from the first discovery of the Western Hemisphere by the Northmen to the end of the first century of the Union of the States, By William Cullen Bryant and Sydney Howard Gay. Scribner Armstrong & Co N Y A Roman & Co San Francisco

The amount of work Mr Bryant accomplishes in his old age is truly astonishing, and it is the more astonishing when it is considered how well he does whatever he undertakes At eighty two years of age, his mind appears to be as vigorous and his capacity for labor as great as when in his youth he first attracted public notice by his strong poetic flights So fertile is his intellect and so extensive his resources that scarcely does one book fall from his hand before another is announced as in preparation, and the work of preparation is pushed on with such rapidity that the reader has but just laid aside the latest of his books when a still later latest is before him Ordinarily the rapid succession of an author's books is accepted by persons of culture and observation as ground for a reasonable presumption that quality is sacrificed to quantity in their production But in Mr Bryant's case to indulge in such a presumption would be to do an injustice to the author and to act upon it would be to deprive oneself of a great pleasure

The work before us or rather the first volume of which is before us, and the rest in press is such a history of our country as has long been needed—a complete narration of the use and progress of the power of the Caucasian race upon this continent from the earliest discovery of the northeastern coast by the Northmen down to the close of the centennial year of the American Republic It is written in an easy, graceful and popular style, but with strict fidelity to truth, whenever truth is known or can be reached by careful and thorough research The facts stated whenever they depend for verification upon the authority of other writers, are accompanied by a citation in the form of foot notes, of the source of information thus making the work not only a history in the narrower sense of the word but also a valuable book of reference for the student of American history and archæology. The work when complete, will consist of four volumes octavo It abounds in elegant illustrations the execution of which as well as the entire mechanical department of the work, is a fitting example of what can be done in the way of book making We have seen nothing more attractive in recent publications than this last of Mr Bryant's contributions to the literature of his country

MARK TWAIN'S SKETCHES NEW AND OLD—These amusing sketches have been collected and published by the American Publishing company of Chicago, in a very convenient and attractive book Many of the sketches have been published before but there are also included in the contents of the book a mass of entirely new matter never before in print. Mark Twain is so well and favorably known to the American public as an humorous writer, that commendation of his sketches is unnecessary Whoever can enjoy a hearty laugh will do well to purchase the book, which is offered for sale by subscription only, by Mr Davies, the agent of the publishers, at Messrs Charles Hirstel & Co s, on Front street, in this city

Opinions of the San Francisco Press

Prof Baldwin's seance last evening was highly interesting and fully sustained the promises of the programme Baldwin is an adept and keeps his large audiences in wonder and astonishment from the beginning to the close of the programme —S F All

Prof Baldwin continues his exposures of spiritualism at the Academy of Music the largest audiences ever gathered in that cosy building His feats wrought by natural means are puzzling in the extreme The committee who have him in close quarters and it discover his method of performing his seemingly supernatural feats and the audience them to be finding out until he chooses to explain them —S F Bulletin

In the seance last a pair of the newest patent handcuffs shaped like a figure 8 with the combination lock were placed upon Baldwin's wrists exactly that the blood started from the and the handcuffs between the wrists before the allow a solid iron ring was placed The committee held Baldwin's hands and the [illegible] was darkened in an instant the ring fitted on the wrist and the cuffs and when light was admitted it was found upon the arm of the astonished committeeman —S F [illegible]

CITY.

SAD ACCIDENT—A gentleman who arrived here yesterday from the north fork of the Lewis river Washington Territory furnishes us with the particulars of a shocking accident which occurred the other day in that vicinity. Last Monday Mr Louis Powell who lives on the Lewis river left home to be absent most of the day leaving at home a little son about six years of age. That day Powell's brother in law, a man named Miller, was engaged in mowing the meadow which was situated near the house. The child went out into the meadow and spent several hours in playing about following the mower and amusing himself in catching little ground mice. Several times the boy ventured too close to the machine and Miller cautioned him repeatedly. Late in the afternoon Miller stopped the team to unhitch, and as he got out of the seat a mouse ran out of the swale and scampered off in the grass in front of the sickle. With childlike heedlessness the little fellow sprang after the mouse, and in securing its capture. The noise and motion of the boy frightened the horses causing them to suddenly start forward. In an instant the boy was caught in the sickle and one leg was severed just above the ankle joint. A doctor was summoned who on his arrival found it necessary to amputate the limb above where it had been cut off. At latest accounts the little sufferer was doing well.

STATEMENTS OF PROPERTY—August 1st is at hand and the County Assessor Mr ... is very desirous of having all statements of property handed into his office by that time. The Board of Equalization will sit during the latter part of August and after the first of the month and the meeting of the Board a great amount of labor will have to be performed by the Assessor in transferring the property from the state ... furnished to the assessment roll, so that every taxpayer's property can be examined, and the required corrections made. Such being the case, it is very desirable to have all statements handed in at the ... It is to the interest of every taxpayer to furnish the Assessor with his statement, as after the 1st proximo that officer will assess all persons who have neglected to furnish statements of property at the same figures at which they were assessed last year, and no allowance will be made for indebtedness. Tax payers will readily perceive the necessity (if they consult their own interest), of making their statements and passing the same in to Mr ... without delay.

WAGON LOST OVERBOARD—Mr H A Hogue, the well known lumberman, had the mishap yesterday morning to lose a valuable wagon from off the ferry boat, at the foot of Stark street. The wagon had been hitched on behind a loaded wagon, and both were driven on the ferry boat. The empty wagon was attached to the hind axle of the loaded one by means of a small chain run through the staple in the tongue and wound around the tree. When the boat reached this side of the river the driver started his team up rather suddenly to drive off. As the chain had frequently been used in drawing considerable loads it was never supposed that it would break but it snapped in twain like a thread. Before the wagon could be checked it rolled off and sunk in about sixty feet of water. Grappling hooks were procured and a number of men employed in dragging the bed of the river for some distance up and down, but at dark last evening the efforts thus far made were fruitless.

COMMITTED TO JAIL—In police court yesterday morning George Mitchell, a lad of about ... years of age, was arraigned on a charge of malicious injury to property. From the evidence it appears that the boy proffered his services to a Chinaman to help him raise his ..., and availing himself of the opportunity, proceeded to punch a number of holes in the ... John did not relish this wanton damage to his property, and at once caused the arrest of young Mitchell. The ... was not much inclined to view the young chap's reprehensible conduct with lenient optic, for he found him guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs. In default of payment, the lad was committed to the county jail for a period of 25 days. However late in the evening the boy was released on giving bonds in the sum of $150, an appeal having been taken to the circuit court.

MILITARY GENTLEMEN ABROAD—The Walla Walla Statesman of the 22d says "Col G H ..., Col. H C Wood and Maj J P Canby arrived here last Sunday and left for Lapwai Tuesday evening by special train for Wallula, and thence by boat to Lewiston. Cols ... and Weeks were members of a general court martial which was convened at the post. Maj Canby is on his regular round, paying off the troops at Walla Walla, Lapwai and Colville." Col Wood is expected to return to Portland Saturday evening. If possible on his return here he will have a pow-wow with Chief Joseph at Lapwai.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATION—The new Plummer Fruit Dryer built at Oregon City was tested on Tuesday, and worked satisfactorily in every particular. Pie plant was dried in one hour and twenty minutes, apples in two hours and cherries in three hours. The dryer is worked by the Clackamas Fruit Drying Company. Quite a number of the dryers are in operation in the State and Washington Territory, and they give perfect satisfaction everywhere. The dryer in East Portland will be working on blackberries shortly.

A WHARF AT ASTORIA—Mr John W Brazee, of the O S N Co is now at Astoria to superintend the building of a large wharf for the use of the company. In addition to this proposed wharf we noticed two others at Astoria, one known as the Holladay wharf, which is a large and commodious structure, and the other ... about 300 feet long recently completed by the Grangers and known as the Farmers wharf.

STANDING REWARD—Mr John J. Valentine, General Superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co on this coast, offers a standing reward of ... for the arrest and conviction of each person engaged in robbing the company's express or treasure boxes on any route in the States of Nevada and Oregon and the Territories of Montana Idaho, Utah and Washington. Highwaymen should pause and reflect when they read this.

ITALIAN CIRCUS—The Italian Circus is now in Washington Territory, and gave a performance last evening at Walla Walla. Thus far the combination has been very successful in their tour east of the Cascades. Early next week the company will return to Portland and before starting overland to California will give a farewell performance here—probably next Wednesday evening.

ORDER IN VACATION—The following order in vacation was made yesterday by Judge Woodward. In the matter of the estate of Charles Reinke, deceased, ordered that the amount be allowed in the sum of $941 50 coming to the hands of the executor of the estate—Henry Webber—and an expenditure by him of $642 10 at the date of filing said account.

BODY NOT FOUND—The body of the unfortunate young man Wand who was drowned about the 1st of the present month at Woody Island has not yet been found. A liberal reward will be paid for any information of the body given to the Parker House Astoria or at this office or its return to John Wand, Wand's landing.

WHERE IS CHARLES?—If Charles D ... should chance to see this paragraph he will confer a great favor by communicating with his brother Samuel D ... of Dayton Yamhill county who has not seen him for thirty five years.

The exodus to the Sea Side will not interfere materially with the rush to Fishel & Roberts where they have just opened a new lot of goods, something unusually attractive. Drop in and look at things.

The Polk county Itemizer says Mr James Alexander last Saturday brought into our office two specimens of oats one specimen being about six feet long and the other seven feet and eight inches. He also brought a specimen of wheat that ought to go to the Centennial. We venture to assert that no finer wheat grows in the world than in Oregon.

The Coos county Record says: The spiles which support Cammon's wharf in Empire City are very rapidly giving away being eaten off by worms and unless they are soon replaced by new ones the whole structure will disappear. These spiles have been driven only about five years while there are spiles at Marshfield which have been twice that length of time in the water.

Ans Marshall the proprietor of the Phoenix stables at Albany is $20 out and the following is the "how" of it as told in the Democrat: Saturday night a young man by the name of W A Shitlet drove a handsome sorrel team into Marshall's stables stating that he had just come over the mountains and wanted to borrow $20 until morning leaving his team as security. After considerable hesitation and not doubting from the appearance of the man and his plausible straightforward answers to the several questions propounded to him Mr Marshall let him have the money. Shitlet thus provided for got on a jamboree and officer McKennon about the witching hour of midnight took him into camp. Monday morning he was brought before Recorder Baker and fined $10 and costs. Shitlet explained to the officer that he had a team at Marshall's and was allowed to go across the river to see his uncle and get funds to liquidate his indebtedness to the city. Suffice it to say that the young man has not been heard of since, but Mr Blevins of the firm of Blevins & Hall of Buena Vista came up yesterday and claimed the team as the property of that firm. Mr B paid the bill for keeping the team but the double X that Marshall loaned Shitlet is non est inventus and Mr M has charged it on his books to profit and loss.

THE RAILWAY ACCIDENT—A CORRECTION

OFFICE OF O & C R R Co
PORTLAND July 26 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The daily papers of this city in their issue of yesterday contain statements in respect to the injuries received by certain passengers and employes of our company on the occasion of the recent accident that occurred near Drain's Station on the Oregon & California Railroad which are incorrect, and which I beg leave through your valuable paper to correct. I have but just returned from that portion of our road where the accident occurred which I visited in company with Dr Sharples of Salem and am therefore enabled to detail the facts as they exist. Mrs Fairbrooks one of the passengers, had her collar bone broken but no further injury of any kind could be discovered either by Dr Sharpless or by the attending physician Dr Cozard of Oakland. She is gradually recovering and it is confidently expected that she will be in a condition to be removed to her home at Oakland Oregon by the middle of next week. Mr Mart Taylor's child did not receive any serious injury. The report that its jaw was broken is incorrect. Mrs Taylor and her child left on yesterday for Walla ..., their place of destination. Mr Stroud ... was not internally injured. He was however severely bruised but has so far recovered from the effects of his injuries as to be able to return to Portland on this afternoon's train.

You would confer a favor upon me by publishing this in the OREGONIAN. Respectfully

The terms have been agreed upon for a lifting match to take place at the race track at Seattle on the 27th, between Ike Longstreet and F Jones, for $500 a side. The conditions of the match are that the man lifting the heaviest weight at arm's length in six trials each is to win the stakes.

The recent rains have somewhat injured the hay crop of King county W T though none has been destroyed. Much grass was ripe and had been cut and this, being wet and dried shrivels up and is hurt. Hay is the principal crop of the farms in this county being always a saleable one and generally one that can be relied upon as profitable.

The schooner Sapphire which ran off from the sheriff of San Francisco during May sailed from Port Townsend for San Francisco last Saturday evening, having on board a law officer in nominal charge. For running into Victoria on a coasting license with a clearance for Port Townsend Collector Webster imposed upon her a fine of $500 and it is said that $500 additional will not pay the expenses of her attempted evasion of the law.

The citizens of Fairview Idaho have contributed very liberally raising over $1,000 to relieve the wants of the men who were left destitute by the failure of the mining corporation to pay them their wages. No money has yet arrived to pay off the miners in the Golden Chariot mine. Mr Baldwin the Superintendent of the mine who was held a prisoner by the miners for awhile has been released and has gone to San Francisco to fix the matter up.

The Seattle Tribune says: An Indian doctor named Pete belonging to the Skagit tribe was killed at Mukilteo by another Indian yesterday. He was stabbed in the neck by the other while in his canoe from which he arose ran a little way up the beach fell down and expired. An examination of his body discovered scars all over said to have been caused by an Indian process of doctor making. The murderer has escaped but as he is known to the other Indians he may yet have to pay for the killing of the old doctor.

A Mrs Miller formerly of Snohomish county left her husband and three children three weeks ago went over to Port Townsend to her lover one Korter the barber and stayed a week or so with him while he sold out his traps and business and prepared to leave. A week ago last Saturday, having accomplished this sale Mrs Miller and Korter took passage on the Eliza Anderson went to Tacoma and thence to Portland. The people at Port Townsend didn't like the conduct of the pair and made it quite unpleasant for them during their short stay at that place, so much so that Korter was glad to get out at a great pecuniary sacrifice of his effects. Her conduct in leaving her husband who is said to have been sick in bed at the time and her three small children cannot be reprehended too severely.

SEATTLE ITEMS.

Our correspondent at Seattle sends the following items under date of 24th July

Work on Robinson's propeller is nearly completed. It is makes the third new vessel lying here, which is being rapidly finished up for active service.

The new barkentine, built at Belltown was successfully launched last Friday evening. She is staunchly made and is a handsome model. She was named the Kate Flickenger after a daughter of one of her owners. She is now lying at one of the wharves being rigged, all the material for which purpose was brought up on the Eureka.

A man was drowned last Saturday evening in the bay at the south part of the city. He with two others all intoxicated got into a boat and rowed out into deep water where they overturned the boat; the other two escaping. He was a native of Hamburg and about 26 years old. His name John ... After he was in the hands of the undertaker some inhuman brute stole from his feet a pair of new shoes.

The sternwheel steamer built for the Snohomish river trade was launched last Saturday evening. She was built by Mr Hammond of this place Mr Gibbins and Benj Stretch of Snohomish City. She is one of the most beautiful models ever launched anywhere. Her dimensions are—length 80 feet depth of hold 4½ feet breadth of beam 19½ feet. She was christened the Nellie and will be ready for her destination in three or four weeks.

The grade of Front street having been established at last, a good force of men are now employed by the contractor Geo Edwards in grading and filling it. Some points will have to be cut down from 15 to 25 feet while others will have to be filled nearly as much. The grade will extend from Mill to Pike streets a distance of nine blocks. As usual in such cases, there is a great deal of diversity of sentiment as to the propriety of the improvement.

The races which will come off on the 26th 27th and 28th are bringing a large number of strangers to the city. Several horses are here from Victoria Portland Walla Walla and elsewhere. Fred Dyer who has leased the race track from John Pennell, has succeeded in placing it in fine condition. Eight or a dozen horses are already here and the steamers to arrive will probably bring several more. Good time is looked for from some of the horses entered and no doubt large sums of money will change hands on the result of these trials of speed.

The Rebellion of the Stomach

The stomach obstinately rebels against all efforts to make it digest superabundant or indigestible food. When a fit of dyspepsia has been brought on by over indulgence in the pleasures of the table or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only renders digestion active but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile re-establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerve, and if taken before retiring, facilitates sleep. Under its happy influence the dyspeptic ... and ... the various ... harassing ... mental symptoms of chronic indigestion disappear.

Public speakers and Singers will find Brown's Bronchial Troches beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing and relieving the throat after any exertion of the vocal organs. For Coughs and Colds the Troches are effectual.

A SLIGHT EXPOSURE IN BAD WEATHER when the system is out of order often brings on a stubborn cold the attending cough irritates the lungs and if not promptly treated frequently develops a tendency to tuberculous consumption. To avoid this danger those troubled with colds should resort at once to Dr D Jayne's Expectorant which soon loosens and eradicates Coughs soothes and heals inflamed parts and removes all anxiety by setting the patient on the way to good health once more.

There are no new features of general interest in financial or trade matters to-day the volume of business being about up to the average for this time in the season The silver question wears the same phase trade dollars being discounted 10 per cent and other silver in greater sums than $5 from 4 to 5 per cent. The loan and discount market is inactive the actual requirements of the business of the country at this time being the middle of harvest are not extensive and the disposition to keep matters financial as near as possible under control makes but a comparatively small volume of transactions necessary When the harvest is over and the activity incident to the fall trade is upon us we may confidently look for a marked improvement in the demand for accommodations but there seems no likelihood that there will be such a volume to trade as to produce any material advance in the rate of loans which however may be offered less freely than now

Wheat and Tonnage.

Perhaps in no other season since Oregon began shipping wheat and flour to foreign countries in any considerable quantities has so little been done before hand in the way of engaging vessels as this year Although exporters are sometimes backward about making their arrangements in this regard known to the public a majority of the charters are usually reported through some source We have made a good deal of inquiry in regard to this matter this season, but our information has been very meager The principal dependence is on the San Francisco freight market where there are at least for the time being abundant opportunities to charter vessels for the trade at current rates A large number of disengaged vessels are there, and our latest advices by mail are to the effect that they are finding a dull market and it may be that the excessive number now in port, and the large number soon to arrive, will be seeking what can be done here. The Commercial News of the 21st inst notes the fact that all kinds of freight are dull and business extremely light In wheat charters nothing was done in San Francisco last week owing to the decline in the English market and the [illegible] lack of orders coupled with the fact that the farmers all over the country are holding their wheat. Just at this moment says the same paper they are busy all over the State in cutting and stacking their grain, and have done but very little threshing They are not compelled [illegible] to pay off their hands or buy grain bags and are for the most part at comparatively slight expense, and therefore able to hold their wheat

Spot freights are for the present at a standstill the market being bare of orders. It is impossible to give accurate rates at this time, the quotations in San Francisco being nominally £3@£3 5s

The San Francisco dispatches to-day announce a large meeting of wheat growers in that city who propose making a strong effort to break the wheat ring by holding back wheat for export. If the [illegible] be very generally acquiesced in by the farmers of the coast it would very materially retard [illegible] for the time, but as the time will come when they must sell, we cannot see how they will be in any better situation to command the market in spite of the ring than now, unless they are able to devise some plan by which the question of transportation can be solved in favor of cheaper freights. At present we are informed that a combination of the farmers for the purpose named in the dispatch would be more likely to effect Friedlander the great wheat king of California than any other large exporter on the coast as he has about 60 vessels chartered at a high figure but it would only be his ill luck or business [illegible] if he should turn the tables on other parties and come through himself without serious damage
